OUTLINES.

Senator Tillman, in spite of threats by Chicago negroes, scorned danger and offers of money to desist and delivered his lecture in that city last night. Mayor Dunne declined to preside at the meeting and Tillman called him the creature of the political hour.——The British Parliament was queried yesterday as to what it would do to checkmate the "trust scheme" of the Southern Cotton Company in its efforts to control the price of cotton. ——A special train with 87 Federal convists was sent from Washington to Atlanta yesterday.——On his return from Panama President Roosevelt mingled freely with the officers and men, messed with the petty officers and met with the men in the hold of the ship.——In the United States Circuit Court in New York yesterday Judge Holt fined the American Sugar Refining Company $18,000 for accepting a rebate of $26,000 on shipments of sugar over the New York Central; the Judge declared it as his opinion that it was a crime and liable to conviction, to even ask a railroad for a rebate on freight.——The House Committee on legislative, executive and judicial appropriations bill to come before Congress in December met yesterday in Washington and is up against it whether to report the bill as framed with simplified spelling under President Roosevelt's order.——Physicians and chemists have discovered that the continued peculiar sickness of the Wait family at Auburn, N. Y., was caused by arsenic put in the food upon which they have subsisted. ——A member of the Pittsburg city council was arrested yesterday and put in jail together with the president of the Tube City Railroad Company, bribery in connection with a franchise for the company being charged; other councilmen are being watched to prevent their escape from the city.——Packing houses in Chicago, Kansas City, Milwaukee and Denver, are said to be readily complying with the law passed by Congress.——New York markets: money on call firm 4 to 5 3-4 per cent., ruling rate 5 1-4; closing bid 4, offered at 4 1-2; spot cotton firm 11.40; flour steady; wheat easy, No. 2 red 79 7-8 elevator; oats easy, mixed 39; turpentine and rosin steady.

President Roosevelt is again on the turf at Washington. We can soon see whether Secretary Taft held down the lid once too often.

When Congress meets and has to listen to what President Roosevelt picked up in a couple of days on the Canal Zone, the members will wonder what they have done to have it thrust upon them right after Thanksgiving.

Senator Tillman unbridled himself in a lecture at South Haven, Mich., on Monday night. He spoke on the negro question and for an hour and a half discussed it without mincing words.

A magazine publishes a list of things we should fight shy of. The list is all right as far as it goes but we refuse to approve of it till he adds to the list "advice to the Democratic party by Republican editors."

At Nashua, N. H., a woman has been duly commissioned deputy sheriff, and it is said that "she is frail and anything but the stage ideal of a sheriff." When a man does wrong he doesn't look at the size of the woman that comes after him.

Count Boni de Castellane in order to get the Countess to relent in her divorce suit pleaded: "Don't let me die like a dog!" The Countess went right on and got the divorce and now it is up to Boni whether he will go to the dogs or not.

"Be honest with yourself," says a moralist That is queer advice to have to give a man. Nevertheless, there are some men who don't give themselves a square deal. They absolutely do things that make a wreck of their own bodies, whereas, it would seem that a man with a grain of sense is of Number One.

Several esteemed contemporaries are advocating a Southern man for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency. If such as that gets to be seriously considered several of our distinguished Southern statesmen, now on friendly terms, will be making "charges" against each other in order to win the honor of being the scape goat of defeat.

THANKSGIVING DAY

Great National and Church Holiday To-morrow—General Suspension Of Business—Services in the Churches.

The great National Thanksgiving, day of feast and football, will be here to-morrow and as usual it will be observed in Wilmington with a general suspension of business, a gathering of family circles, the big turkey dinner and the proverbial greeting of friend by friend on the street. By proclamation of the President and the Governors of all States. it will be a holiday and everywhere it will be celebrated by the people as their consciences may dictate.

There will be the usual appropriate and very impressive services in the churches, announcements of many of which will appear to-morrow. There will be special music and all the houses of worship in the city will welcome strangers and members of their congregations alike

Many devotees of the sport in Wilmington will attend the football meet of the University of Virginia and Carlisle Indians in Norfolk to-morrow while others will go to Richmond for the A. & M. game with the V. P. I. At home there will be a game between the W. L. I. and the Y. M. C. A. at Hilton Park, but the more ardent followers of the game will go to one or the other of the games in Virginia. Most of them will leave on this evening's train catching a special at Rocky Mount.

At the postoffice here the usual holiday hours will be observed. The carriers will make the early morning delivery and collection and the money order and registry departments will be closed during the entire day. The general delivery will be open from 8 to 11 A. M. and from 5 to 6 P. M., while the hours at the stamp window will be from 8 to 9 A. M. and from 5 to 6 P. M. The public will be asked to please take note of the hours.

The Star is requested to publish the following opportunity for Thanksgiving:

Thanksgiving services at Immanuel Presbyterian Church to-morrow morning at 10:30 A. M. All the members of the church and Sunday school are expected to be present and bring an offering of cash or provisions. All other members of the congregation and community who are interested in the cause of "The Fatherless Ones" are most cordially invited to be present. Any of the merchants who may not be called on otherwise and who would like to contribute flour, meal, rice, potatoes, hams, bacon, salt fish-molasses, canned goods, etc., for the children who are taken care of at the Barium Springs Orphanage, will please let Rev. J. S. Crowley know and he will receive same and thank you. Phone No. 304. Residence 411 South Front street.

GOLF ON THANKSGIVING.

Men's Handicap Tournament With Features To-morrow.

The annual men's handicap tournament of 27 holes will be played on the golf links of the Cape Fear Country Club to-morrow morning and afternoon. There are about 15 entries for the tourney and a most pleasing contest is assured. There will also be a clock golf tournament for ladies, beginning at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The Club will serve an oyster roast to the members and their friends on the grounds Thanksgiving afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Torpedo Boats Are Gone.

The torpedo boats of the Second Flotilla, United States Navy, which have been in port since Sunday afternoon proceeded on their southern course yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock During the morning hours the little fighters were visited by large crowds who were shown around politely by the men in charge It was a pleasure for many people in Wilmington to have the Flotilla here for the short time and the only regret is that they did not stay longer.

A FORWARD MOVEMENT FOR INLAND WATERWAYS

Second Annual Meeting of Association Held In This City Yesterday—Able Discussion of Great National Project—Congressman Small.

Upwards of fifty delegates from a dozen principal sea and inland ports from half that number of States on the South Atlantic Seaboard, the most representative men from their respective business communities, were present yesterday at the second annual meeting of the Inland Water Ways Association, which was held in this city with the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce. In addition to the delegates there were a number of distinguished visitors, including Hon. F. M. Simmons, United States Senator from North Carolina; Hon. John A. Fox, of Blytheville, Ark., a member of the Executive Committee of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, and others. Morning and afternoon sessions were held, each being marked by an earnestness and an enthusiasm scarcely attained in an assembly of the kind. The discussions were able, logical and bristling with facts that are bound to make their impress upon the minds of those in attendance resulting in great good in the great National scheme for the improvement of our great natural highways. The meeting was in every way a success; every man present came with a definite end in view; that end was attained during the sessions and all will return to their homes with a greater determination than ever to bring the proper influence to bear upon the National law-making body to give to the rivers and harbors of the country that recognition they so eminently deserve as a factor in building up our commerce.

The meeting was called to order yesterday morning at 11 o'clock in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce, President Jas. H. Chadbourn, of Wilmington, presiding, and Mr. E. B Clark, of Columbia, S. C., at his post as secretary. In calling the meeting to order President Chadbourn referred to the importance of the work in hand and gave a history of the organization of the Association in Columbia, S. C., two years ago. He introduced Hon. A. M. Waddell, Mayor of the city, who in behalf of Wilmington, bade the visitors a most hearty welcome. He referred to his own experience in Congress thirty years ago when he advocated the improvement of the inland water ways of the coast, but could attain no success because of the feeling of the times.

Capt. James D. McNeill, of Fayetteville, made the response in behalf of the Association, his speech being characteristic of the man, cordial, witty and eloquent.

Hon. John H. Small, of the First District of North Carolina, easily the most influential man in the body, was first introduced and made what might aptly be termed the key-note address of the entire meeting. The history and feasibility of the project was carefuly gone over and the progress of the movement up to the present time was succinctly outlined. It is regretted that with the mass of other detail proceedings of the convention, the speech cannot be printed in full this morning. Mr. Small's address was greatly enjoyed by the Association and he was given a vote of thanks for his splendid discussion of the work in hand.

Maj. E. J. Hale, of Fayetteville, a member of the Executive Committee of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, was next introduced and spoke briefly but encouragingly of the relation of the inland water way scheme to the work of the National organization. Maj. Hale is a delightful speaker, his observations are couched in the most elegant English and the pity is that his address was not more at length. Maj. Hale told of his first introduction to the idea of inland water way improvement in England years ago and of his research upon the subject in later years with particular reference to the plan for the improvement of the upper Cape Fear. He, with the other speakers, both morning and afternoon, warmly commended the work of Mr. Small in interesting the Nation in the project for the canalization of the inland route from Norfolk, Va., to Beaufort, N. C., as the initial step in the greater undertaking that will embrace the entire Atlantic Coast from Massachusetts to Florida.

Mr. J. A. Taylor, president of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce, discussed inland water ways as affecting port rates upon which are based the rail rates of the entire country, affecting not only the coast cities, but all the interior. He, therefore, argued that it should be a campaign in which the entire country should be enlisted. He also spoke of the practicability of having Congress adopt the entire scheme at the outset for the improvement of all the coast without regard to any one project.

Mr. C. H. Forrest, representing the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, of Baltimore, Md., was next introduced and in a brief but well delivered address urged the importance of the work and treated its scope in a comprehensive and interesting manner. He was heard with great interest and was easily recognized as one of the leading spirits in the enterprise.

Through President J. A. Taylor, the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce extended members of the Association a very cordial invitation to become guests of the Chamber of Commerce for a special trip to Fort Caswell the following day. The steamer leaves this morning at 10.30 o'clock and several of the members have remained over in the city for the purpose of visiting the great fortifications of the army at the mouth of the Cape Fear river.

There was much incidental discussion by a number of the members with special reference to the press reports of the proceedings of the body, the Association recognizing the value of the widest dissemination of its views upon the subject being treated.

The committee on resolutions made report through Chairman H. W. Malloy and the report was laid on the table for action at the afternoon session. The committee was composed of Messrs. H. W. Malloy, J. A. Taylor, of Wilmington; E. B Taylor, of Columbia; H. R. Jackson, of Charleston; and Hon. J. H. Small. Other committees were announced by the president as follows:

Finance—J. A. Taylor, Wilmington; E. B. Clark, of Columbia; C. H. Forrest, of Baltimore; H. R. Jackson, of Charleston, and Col. Pleasant A. Stovall, of Savannah.

Nominations—W. D. Morgan, of Georgetown, S. C.; J. D. McNeill, of Fayetteville; George T. Leach, of Washington, and J. J. Wolfenden, of Newbern.

It was stated that the arrangements had been made through the courtesy of Maj. Joseph E. Kuhn, of the Corps of U. S. Engineers, for a trip about the harbor on the government yacht Mercur, but the proceedings of the morning session continued rather longer than expected and the pleasure had to be foregone.

Senator Simmons, Congressman Charles R. Thomas and the Morehead City and Beaufort delegations arrived on the afternoon train just before adjournment of the morning session and were given a cordial welcome. A recess was taken at 1:30 o'clock to meet at 3 o'clock in the afternoon in Pythian Castle Hall in the Murchison Bank building.

The Afternoon Session.

The delegates were slow in assembling for the afternoon session and it was nearly 4 o'clock when the meeting was called to order in the more handsomely appointed quarters. There was an increased attendance. The president introduced Mr. Fox, of Arkansas, who is traveling in the special interest of the work of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress. He is a man full of his work, an interesting and forceful speaker and delivered possibly the best general address of the convention. He made an especial plea for the concentrated effort for National improvement without regard to sections, citing the benefits and illustrating them from the extensive canalization on the Great Lakes. Figures and statistics were at his finger's tips and he had the rare and happy faculty of making the statistics anything but dry. Eminent authorities on railway traffic were quoted to show that the land transportation companies were not averse to this scheme of internal improvements, for the very good reason that it was to their advantage to have the increased and more desirable traffic brought about by waterway transportation companies. He submitted the proposition that were the National Congress the directors of any well regulated railroad system there would not be a moment's hesitation in improving these great highways even should the work have to be undertaken by bond issue. Mr. Fox referred to the enormous expenditures of the National Government for war and means of war, for pensions, for postoffices, many times the paltry nineteen and a quarter millions that are spent for building up the commerce of the country. A campaign of education was needed; popular sentiment should be brought to bear upon Congress. Until that was done, there could be nothing accomplished.

Mr. Fox closed with an invitation for all the commercial bodies represented to send delegates to the National Rivers and Harbors Congress in Washington, D. C., December 6th and 7th.

Hon. Charles R. Thomas, of Newbern, representative of the Third North Carolina District and an able assistant of Congressman Small in his great inland water way project, was the next speaker and assured the Association of his hearty co-operation in the movement.

Upon suggestion of Mr. Fox, who pledged the support of the Mississippi valley, Major E. J. Hale made a motion that Mr. Small be endorsed for appointment to the vacancy on the Rivers and Harbors Committee of Congress, caused by the death of Hon. Rufus E. Lester, of Georgia The motion was seconded by Mr. W. L. Cahoon, of Elizabeth City, Mr. Forrest, of Baltimore and others. Maj. Hale, Mr. James Sprunt and Col. Stovall were named as a committee to place the sense of the meeting in this respect in form of a resolution, and after retiring they returned with the following which was unanimously adopted. with enthusiasm, the name of each delegate in attendance being signed for their respective commercial organization:

To the Hon. John Sharp Williams, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.

At the meeting of the Inland Waterway Association, held in the city of Wilmington, N. C., Tuesday, November 27, 1906, a resolution was unanimously passed recommending Hon. John H. Small, Representative from the First District in North Carolina, as the successor of the late Hon. Rufus E. Lester, of Georgia, on the Committee of Rivers and Harbors.

While we understand, of course, that this is entirely within the prerogative of the Speaker of the House, we respectfully ask your consideration of our views in this regard, because of the eminent fitness of Mr. Small for this position, and his active and effective interest in the work which will come before the committee.

E. J. HALE,
Chrmn Committee.

Maj. E. W. VanC. Lucas, of Wilmington; Col. Stovall, of Georgia; Mr. Cahoon, of Elizabeth City; Mr. Forrest, of Baltimore and others spoke to the resolution, warmly commending Mr. Small and his work, prior to the adoption of the endorsement.

MANY BEFORE MAYOR

Twenty Cases All Told Disposed of Yesterday in Police Court—One Officer Prosecutor in Twelve—Several to Roads.

Twenty cases all told required the attention of the Mayor in the police court yesterday, the docket being the heaviest in months. From all accounts there was much disorder in the outlying districts of the city night before last, but the police seem to have put an early quietus on affairs, judging from the record of arrests. Of the twenty cases at the bar yesterday, Policeman Leon George appeared as the arresting officer in twelve, a record that has not been surpassed by a single officer in some time.

Amanda Johnson, colored, and a nectarine goddess of ebony hue known as "Honey" Crawford, were arraigned for a fight fast and furious in "Brooklyn." They were each given 30 days on the farm for their personal encounter with an additional 30 days for being common vagrants

"Sister" McMillan, as black as the proverbial ace of spades, shared similarly in a double sentence to the farm, she having been guilty of disorderly conduct and drunkenness. Rachel Roberts also received 60 days for being disorderly and allowing time to hang too heavy on her hands. Kate Swann, colored, was given an even 30 days in the country for disorder.

G. W. McMillan, a white man, was raising merry hades at his house Monday night and was threatening to kill a neighbor who remonstrated with him about his conduct. He was fined $10 and costs. The other cases were those for ordinary drunkenness and disorderly conduct, the defendants being let off with the costs

A CALL TO FARMERS

Cotton Association Urgently in Need of Funds to Prosecute the Work—Raleigh First Presbyterian Church Free From Debt.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Nov., 27.—Secretary T. B. Parker of the North Carolina division of the Southern Cotton Growers' Association has issued an urgent letter to the cotton farmers of the State urging that they attend the general couny meeings o be held December 1st and that they pay in with the least possible delay the association's dues. a very small cent of which has yet been paid. He tells them that the expenses of President Moore, Secretary Parker and others in the work of organizing have not anything like been met and that the time has come for the farmers to show their appreciation of the benefits afforded them by the Association by paying their dues. It is understood that if there is not a very decided improvement in the financial support given by farmers to the association in its efforts in holding up prices it will necessarily have to be suspended.

The congregation of the First Presbyterian church observed Sunday as a day of great rejoicing in celebration of the last payment on the church indebtedness, the free will offering on that day being $925, the amount needed to finally settle the last of a mortgage of $7,000 that had been on the church for the past ten years. The prssent edifice cost $36,500 and was erected in 1897 and 1898. It took the place of a church which cost $17,000 in 1818 with Rev. William McPheeters as pastor. During the past ten years this congregation has, so it is stated, by the pastor, Dr. A. H. Moment, yesterday, raised for all purposes upwards of $80,000.

LOCAL DOTS.

—Friends of Alderman Johnson will regret to know that he is quite seriously ill at his home on Ninth and Market streets.

—Services First Church of Christ, Scientist, this evening at 8 o'clock, Odd Fellows' building, second floor. All are invited.

—The British steamer Zamora, Leslie, was cleared yesterday by Messrs. Alexander Sprunt & Son for Liverpool with cargo of 9,549 bales of cotton, valued at $553,000.

—Thanksgiving services will be conducted in St. John's Church tomorrow at 11 A. M. There wil be a collection for the Thompson Orphanage.

—A. G. Warren was yesterday granted a permit to build a two-story tin-roof, seven-room house to cost $1,600, near Third and Campbell streets.

—A lady's fur neck piece was lost yesterday evening between 513 Walnut street and the A. C. L. depot. The finder will receive a liberal reward by returning to the Star office.

—Owing to the services which will be held Thursday morning at 11 o'clock for Thanksgiving there will be no prayer meeting service at the First Presbyterian Church this evening.

—An officer from Brunswick county arrived here yesterday with an insane colored woman to be taken to the State Hospital at Goldsboro. The woman was left in jail here while the officer went to Leland for another patient.

FOREIGN LABOR FOR THE SOUTH

The Star yesterday morning published an Associated Press dispatch to the effect that Governor Heyward, of South Carolina, has vigorously protested to the immigration authorities at New York against the unresaonable detention at Ellis Island of immigrants bound to South Carolina. The Governor declares that the South Carolina immigration authorities have not violated the immigration laws of the United States in bringing contract labor from Europe or by prepaying their passage for them. The Governor evidently believes that the immigration authorities at Ellis Island are not giving the South a square deal and he threatens to appeal to Caesar. Governor Heyward in fact gave notice that he would carry the matter to President Roosevelt, so that he could see to it that the South is not discriminated against in securing foreign laborers.

It crops out, however, that it is the American Federation of Labor that is putting the stumbling blocks in the way of foreign labor, both for the North and the South. Organized labor is strenuously behind the administration and the law officials step lively when so powerful a factor in politics is to be reckoned with. The New York Times in discussing the situation thus enlightens us:

"The protests of the American Federation of Labor against the manner in which immigrants from Europe have been induced to take passage directly for Southern ports, promise, or threaten, to be effective. They have already been so in the cases of the immigrants secured for Charlotte, N. C., by the agent of the local authorities. It seems clear that, in his zeal to show results, he violated both the letter and the spirit of the contract labor law. A similar question has arisen with respect to a shipload of immigrants secured by agents abroad of South Carolina, acting under the authority of the State itself. This case is complicated by the fact that the plan which the Federation declares to be in evasion of he law, was assented to in advance by Commissioner Sargent. The difficulties are in fact so great that The Houston Post sees no prospect of securing the needed labor by direct immigration, which would be so apt to be construed as direct importation. It recommends that the effors of the Southern societies organized for the purpose should be confined to establishing agencies in New York, and endeavoring to induce immigrants, after they have actually landed on our shores, to go South.

"This is rather a discouraging conclusion all around. It is, in the first place, evident that immigrants who have not made up their minds before landing as to their ultimate destination are the least desirable class of immigrants. What they are very apt to do is to drop where they are "dumped," to the increase of the municipal and social difficulties of that place. Some of the steamship companies have taken the view that wide distribution was also to their interest, and have endeavored to give effect to that view. It seems that the local authorities and the local commercial organizations should be able, by co-operating with the carriers, to bring about an effective diversion of some part of the tide."

The situation is rather discouraging for direct immigration. Already the government has entered suit at Charlotte against several cotton mill men charged with importing English girls contrary to law, and it appears that whereever foreign labor is secured for the South somebody is around making trouble.

After all, wouldn't it be the better plan to thoroughly advertise the South in Europe, setting forth its resources and opportunities for laborers and home seekers? It must be admitted that people who come of their own will and by their own means would be a more desirable class than the aliens picked up and brought over where somebody pays the freight. The advantages of the South have never been made known in foreign countries as they should be. A Southern States Immigration Society might be organized and all Southern States cooperate in the expense of advertising the South.

THE AMERICAN MAGAZINE.

The American Magazine for December is out and will be eagerly sought by readers everywhere. It has a most entertaining and edifying table of contents, and the variety of matter and all features of the publication will be sure to please the discriminating. Ida M. Tarbell, who for months probed the Standard Oil Company, has begun a new series of articles on "The Tariff in Our Times." This gifted woman goes into the subject in a thorough manner, and those who are not posted on the history and effects of our fiscal system should read what she says. "Mr. Dooly" writes of "The Christmas Spirit" and it is enough to merely mention the fact. It is not necessary to mention the further excellencies of the American as it caters only to good reading. The magazine is sent a year for $1, and is sold at 10 cents per copy by 20,000 newsdealers. Address Phillips Publishing Company, 141-147 Fifth Avenue, New York.

From 7 o'clock until midnight the banquet hall made a noise like a Democratic convention. On the little balconies overlooking the diners were draped the red, white and blue in profusion, and behind the flags were the wives and daughters of the Southerners in those and all the other colors of the rainbow. Looking down on the scene one saw little trans parencies on each State's table on which was lettered the nickname of the Commonwealth.—New York Sun.

—Washington, Nov. 26.—An effort is on foot among the Catholics of this city to establish a Catholic Church. The congregation already owns a lot on the corner of Van Orden and Third streets where a Catholic Church stood prior to the war.

—Greensboro, Nov. 26.—While returning to their homes Sunday afternoon from a funeral three white men riding in a buggy were stopped in the road by a party of half-drunken negroes who refused to get out of the way. A fight resulted and one of the white men was badly cut by one of the negroes who used a razor as a weapon. The fight occurred five miles from the city. Officers are out there trying to locate the parties.

Made Happy For Life.

Great happiness came into the home of S. C. Blair, school superintendent, at St. Alban's, W. Va., when his little daughter was restored from the dreadful complaint he names. He says: "My little daughter had St. Vitus' Dance, which yielded to no treatment but grew steadily worse until as a last resort we tried Electric Bitters; and I rejoice to say three bottles effected a complete cure." Quick, sure cure for nervous complaints, general debility, female weaknesses, impoverished blood and malaria. Guaranteed by R. R. Bellamy's drug store. Price 50c.

NIP IT IN THE BUD.

First Appearance of Dandruff a Forerunner of Future Baldness.

That such is the case has been conclusively proven by scientific research. Prof. Unna, the noted European skin specialist, declares that dandruff is the burrowed-up cuticle of the scalp, caused by parasites destroying the vitality in the hair bulb. The hair becomes lifeless and, in time, falls out. This can be prevented.

Newbro's Herpicide kills this dandruff germ, and restores the hair to its natural softness and abundancy.

Herpicide is now used by thousands of people—all satisfied that it is the most wonderful hair preparation on the market to-day.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co. Detroit, Mich.

COMPARISONS.

As Soon as We Begin to Make Them We Begin to Suffer.

We would not have to strive so for courage if what we vaguely call "things" were more evenly distributed among us, for no one's lot would then seem to him an evil one. If we were all humpbacked or lame or blind; if every husband were unfaithful and every child a cross; if we were all poor and no man had any more than another; if nobody's son died in his early strength and nobody was loved while we sat neglected, then who of us would know what sorrows and afflictions were? We would take each of them for granted, as a Chinaman takes his yellow skin and an Indian his red one.

It is because we see our estate differing from that of our fellows that we are tempted to comparisons, and it is in the making of these comparisons that a sense of our sorrows, like the knowledge of our afflictions, is first born. How would we have known that we were poor unless we had seen some one else who was richer or that our son was unsuccessful unless the son of somebody else were making a great mark in the world? Would our little children be unhappy with only one dress had they not seen other children with two?

It comes to this, then: When we begin to make comparisons, we begin to suffer. This may seem to be a hard saying, but it is a true one.—Lillie Hamilton French in Harper's Bazar.

STAG LEGENDS.

Ancient Stories of the Animal's Antipathy to Snakes.

There is no beast in the world to which more legendary virtues are attributed than the stag, partly owing to the tale of St. Hubert, partly to a supposed antipathy of stags toward serpents, partly to a peculiar mass of gristle in the shape of a cross which is found in the animal's heart. A whole book might be written on the miraculous power of the heart and the efficacy of different parts of him against the troubles of this evil world. Fouilloux, in the sixteenth century, gives a long list, and Master Robert Topsel fills page upon page with them, but our author in his solid English fashion is chary of accepting such stories.

Men say, he admits, that when a stag is right old he beateth a serpent with his foot till she be wroth, and then eateth her, and then goeth to drink, and then runneth hither and thither till the water and venom be meddled together, and maketh him cast all his evil humors that he had in his body, and maketh his flesh come all anew. But, he adds, with the solemnity of Herodotus himself, "Thereof make I none affirmation." And this phrase occurs again and again, for the Comte de Foix is too great and noble a hunter that any assertion of his should be laughed at.—Macmillan's Magazine.

Gambling a Religious Duty.

"Speaking of gambling," a missionary said, "I know of a sect that regards it as a religious duty, like fasting or prayer. This sect is the Hindoos. They one day in each year gamble like mad from sunrise till sunset. The day is the festival of the lamps, a day sacred to Lakshun, the goddess of wealth. A tremendous lot of money changes hands in Lakshun's honor. All this gambling is done to test the financial success that will attend on each person throughout the year. If a gambler loses he knows a year of hard luck is ahead of him. If he wins he knows he may expect a twelvemonth of prosperity. Strange to say, a good deal of cheating accompanies this religious gambling."

Champion Divers.

"Larry Donovan," said a professional swimmer, "made the highest dive on record. It was 210 feet—a dive from the Brooklyn bridge. Donovan also took a dive from Niagara bridge, a good 200 feet. There are no other divers in the same class with Larry. Jack Burns made a dive of 150 feet from the topmost yardarm of the Three Brothers, the largest sailing ship of its time, and Jim O'Rourke and Julius Gautier have done some good diving, too—100 feet, 125 feet, and so on—but it is doubtful if Donovan's record will ever be broken."

The Crawfish's Tail.

The tail of a crawfish serves that animal as an oar. By a peculiar jerk of the tail the animal can retire from a dangerous object with almost incredible swiftness. The tail is much more effective in moving the animal backward than forward, a singular instance of adaptation to its situation, for by means of its tail it can withdraw into its hole with such swiftness as in an instant to place it out of danger.

Tess—Of course, I knew that May and Bess were bitter enemies, but do you mean to tell me they actually engaged in a fist fight? Jess—Yes. Tess—Why, what a scandal! I declare I—Jess—Oh, nobody noticed it. They went to a bargain store to do it.—Philadelphia Press.

The Opinion She Sought.

"Well, what do you think of my new hat?" she asked.

"Do you want a candid opinion?" he questioned.

"Heavens, no!" she replied. "Say something nice."—New York Press.

TRIAL OF REV. MR. PAYSEUR.

Both Waived Examination and Were Bound to Higher Court.

(Special to Charlotte Chronicle.)

Newton, Nov. 26.—When the case of the shooting by Rev. J. J. Payseur of Mr. Ezell Burke last Friday came up in court this morning the attorneys for both sides waived examination. They were bound over for the next term of court.

on Mr. Burke's land and was remonstrated with by the owner. Hot words resulted in a quarrel and Mr. Payseur discharged both barrels of his gun in Mr. Burke's face, wounding him seriously. The shooting occurred near Maiden, about 10 miles from Newton. Much interest has been attracted owing to the prominence of the two men.

Mr. Montford Improving.

Mr. B. S. Montford, who was accidentally shot Monday afternoon on the Masonboro road, near his home, continues to improve, though he is not yet fully out of danger. Mr. Montford rallied considerably yesterday and was resting very well indeed at the hospital where he will be for some days yet.

Dr. George G. Thomas' Condition.

Friends of Dr. George G. Thomas will regret to know that his condition was not improved yesterday. He seemed more cheerful yesterday morning but it was stated last night that for the day there was no change in his general condition.

A Year of Blood.

The year of 1903 will long be remembered in the home of F. N. Tacket, of Alliance, Ky., as a year of blood; which flowed so copiously from Mr. Tacket's lungs that death seemed very near. He writes: "Severe bleeding from the lungs and a frightful cough had brought me at death's door, when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, with the astonishing result that after taking four bottles I was completely restored and as time has proven permanently cured." Guaranteed for Sore Lungs, Coughs, and Colds, at R. R. Bellamy's drug store. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

A FORWARD MOVEMENT

ment Co., of this city, was next introduced happily by Mr. Chadbourn as a "private citizen" and therefore at liberty to speak with authority. Maj. Lucas' address was practical and instructive. He gave many facts of the project for the inland waterway and argued that it was perfectly feasible. He was heard with more than ordinary interest.

Mr. Cahoon in response to calls, warmly endorsed the project under consideration and in a very graceful speech thanked the Association for its kindly expression towards Mr. Small, of his district.

Senator Simmons was next introduced, but the president explained that he was enjoined from asking him to make a speech. He would be glad if the Senator would submit "a few remarks." Mr. Simmons did so, being received with much enthusiasm. He discussed the improvement of rivers and harbors Nationally and as a member of the Senate committee on Commerce corresponding to the Rivers and Harbors Committee in the House, spoke with knowledge and power. Incidentally he said he was opposed to the government ownership of rail roads, but he was an ardent advocate of the Government taking charge of the great natural highways and improving them to meet the demands of the growing commerce of the country. He referred to his record on the Panama Canal and spoke of it as one of the greatest undertakings of the age.

Maj. Hale offered a resolution endorsing the work of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress and moved that the Association appoint 10, which was afterwards made 12, delegates to the meeting of that body in Washington, Dec. 6th and 7th. The delegates were named as follows: Col. J. H. Estill, of Savannah; H. Kerminski, of Georgetown; James S. Murdoch, of Charleston; Col. C. P. Goodyear, of Brunswick Ga.; Capt. James D. McNeill, of Fayetteville; Capt. James McCarrick, of Norfolk; Dr. L. S. Blades, of Elizabeth City, J. J. Wolfenden, of Newbern; G. T. Leach, of Washington, N. C.; C. H. Forrest, of Baltimore; H. W. Malloy and James Sprunt, of Wilmington.

Mr. Morgan offered a resolution calling specifically upon Congress to undertake the work in hand, a copy of the resolution to be furnished to each member of the two houses. The resolution was unanimously adopted.

The report of the committee on resolutions was then read and unanimously adopted as presented at the morning session as follows:

"Resolved, That this Association respectfully request the Congress of the United States to make an appropriation adequate for the construction of the inland waterway from Norfolk Virginia, to Beaufort Inlet, North Carolina.

"The last report of the Board of Engineers made under the authority of Congress demonstrates the commercial and strategic necessity of this protected route and estimates the cost to be only $3,500,000.

"This Association, with great respect, desires to emphasize its conclusion that there is now no valid reason why the construction of this important waterway should be longer delayed. It is not only within the jurisdiction of Congress, but the interests involved are of sufficient importance to demand favorable consideration.

The facts which demonstrate its necessity are many, but this Association will submit a few of the controlling factors, which justify this conclusion. It is well known that the volume of the coastwise trade between the South Atlantic and the North Atlantic ports is comparatively small, both in tonnage and in value. It is confined to large steamships and large modern sailing vessels. This is true because of the hazardous navigation around Cape Hatteras and Diamond Shoals. The treacherous sands projecting far out into the sea from Cape Hatteras have at all times created a barrier prohibiting free commercial intercourse by water between the people of the two sections. The construction of this proposed waterway will avoid not alone the dangers of Cape Hatteras but also of Cape Lookout, and will make possible the immediate introduction of small vessels and steamers and particularly of barges in the coastwise trade. Philadelphia and Baltimore on the North, together with Jacksonville and Savannah on the South, are equally as much interested in this project as are other and intermediate seaboard cities and cities located upon interior rivers. It has been shown that the increased prosperity due to the commerce to be promoted, added to the amount saved in cheaper transport, would in a few years equal the initial cost of construction.

"This waterway is only one of the many other water ways along the seaboard and in the interior which are now pressing for consideration. There can be no doubt that ultimately a chain of waterways will be constructed along the entire Atlantic seaboard; that a canal across the peninsular of Florida will connect the Atlantic with the Gulf and that the wonderful commerce of the Lakes will be physically water connections with that of the Mississippi and the Gulf, thus forming a chain of protected water routes and afford the greatest inducements for the continued extension and development of our domestic trade. While not minimizing the importance of any other meritorious project, we submit with deference that the project under consideration is of greater relative importance, because its construction will at once make possible a large coastwise trade.

"The congestion of traffic upon the railroads of the country has now become almost a chronic condition; relief has been repeatedly promised and yet it has not been afforded. Whether this condition is due to shortage of tracks and terminal facilities, or both, the movement of traffic continues to be slow and trade retarded. If, for no other reason, the construction of interior waterways demands the consideration of the Congress.

"The strategic importance of the waterway under consideration cannot well be exaggerated. The proposed depth of 12 feet will accommodate torpedo boats and torpedo boat destroyers, and small transports carrying munitions of war. The army Engineers have repeatedly recognized this waterway as another powerful arm of defense in time of war.

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to each and every member of the Senate and House of Representatives in Congress."

A telegram of greeting was received from Mr. Alfred O. Crozier, a leading citizen of Wilmington, Del., and prominently connected with the Delaware & Chesapeake Canal. The secretary was instructed to make due acknowledgment of the telegram.

The Finance committee made report, recommending that each commercial body within the range of the Association be assesed $15 to defray the necessary expenses of the Association. A number of delegations came forward with their pro rata of the assessment.

The committee on nominations then made report and the following officers were unanimously elected for the ensuing year:

President—Col. J. H. Estill, of Savannah, Ga.

Vice Presidents—Col. P. A. Stovall of Savannah, Ga.; W. D. Morgan, of Georgetown; Capt. James McCarrick, of Norfolk; J. Allen Taylor, of Wilmington; Maj. E. J. Hale, of Fayetteville.

Secretary—C. H. Forrest, of Baltimore.

Treasurer—E. B. Clark, of Columbia, S. C.

Executive Committee—E. B. Taylor, of Columbia; John H. Small, of Washington, N. C., and James H. Chadbourn, of Wilmington.

C. L. Abernerthy, Esq., of Beaufort, was called upon and spoke with great enthusiasm of his port without prejudice to Wilmington and spoke of the wonderful development promised in the east with the completion of the great Norfolk & Southern Railway system. He was heard with great interest.

As the president explained, the meeting would be incomplete without a few remarks from Mr. E. B. Taylor, "the Inland Water Way Evangelist." Mr. Taylor spoke briefly, pleading for the elimination of sectional differences and a unity of action and effort.

Capt. Harney, of Norfolk, extended a very cordial invitation for the Association to met next year with the Board of Trade of his city. Capt. Harney was given to understand that the cordial invitation would be duly considered in deciding the matter at an opportune time.

On motion of Mr. Cahoon, Maj. Hale and others the thanks of the Association were tendered to the secretaries, the press, the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce and to all others who in any manner contributed to the success of the meeting.

Last night members of the Association were guests of President Chadbourn and the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce on a trolley party to the Sound and an old-fashioned North Carolina oyster roast at the Lighthouse. A number of the members wil go with the Chamber of Commerce on the trip to Fort Caswell this morning.

VISIT OF DR. M'KANNA.

Guest of Club Named in His Honor Last Night.

A largely attended and enthusiastic meeting of the McKanna Club was held at the hall at the First Baptist Church last night to welcome as their guest Dr. J. J. McKanna, who arrived here the night before, it being his first visit to the city since he administered the three-day liquor treatment to a class of 57 about two months ago.

Most of those who had taken the treatment here were present and all joined heartily in welcoming the genial doctor to the meeting.

Dr. McKanna made an address before the club reciting his travels since he left here and what he had accomplished in other places with his famous cure. His talk was full of interest to the members of the club and at times bristled with wit and humor, which is characteristic of the man.

Short talks were also made by several ministers of the city and by Rev. A. D. Wilcox, who is giving a series of temperance lectures at the First Baptist Church.

At the close of the address a resolution was unanimously passed unqualifiedly endorsing Dr. McKanna's cure for the liquor habit.

"MISS HOBBS" WAS GOOD.

Pickerts at Academy of Music Giving Satisfaction.

The Four Pickerts and company were greeted by another large audience at the Academy last night and the audience was given a veritable treat of comedy in Annie Russell's success, "Miss Hobbs." The play is a comedy of high type and was well presented by the company. The specialties were again exceedingly clever and were greatly enjoyed. The Pickerts in thir up-to-date dancing acts had to respond to numerous encores. The illustrated songs were also good.

Tonight the company will present "The Inventor," which is described as a drama of power. It is not thrilling in nature, but one intense in both plot and action.

The Thanksgiving matinee tomorrow will be marked by a delightful performance of "Cinderilla" and the prices will be 10 and 20 cents.

Important Announcement.

To have the largest stock of goods in any line, from which customers may select and from which to supply customers is a fortunate condition for any firm. The distinction of having the "largest stock" is often claimed by several rival stores in the same line.

Realizing the importance of having the largest stock of Furniture and house furnishings in Wilmington, it has been claimed by different ones. On June the first, according to the sworn tax returns, we have more than twice as many goods as any furniture store in the city, else those with the largest stock falsified tax returns under oath, depriving every branch of government from the school child to the old soldier.

The records of the transportation companies show that since June 1st we have received twice as many goods as any furniture store in the city.

To be able to save purchasers money is so important a matter that almost every one claims that.

With our facilities for buying in large quantities, saving freight, paying cash, saving discounts, economical management, certainly puts us to the place. Our goods cost us from 20 per cent to 35 per cent less than if we bought differently. We sell goods on an average of 25 per cent less than we could if we bought in the usual way.

Special Sale.

Our buyer has just returned from the Market where he bought large quantities of Holiday Goods. We have decided to have special sales days, on which we will sell these goods very cheap. Watch this space for Special announcements.

A Flimsy Craft.

While it is rarely employed by Europeans as a method of travel, even in emergencies, the catamaran of the Madras fishermen of India is by all odds the most extraordinary of water vehicles. It consists simply of three logs lashed together and flush with the surface of the water. On these a fisherman (sometimes two or more fishermen) stands and with a single oar paddles himself far out to sea. A Madras fisherman will venture out when boatmen will not launch their craft, and even in weather when boats cannot be launched he will go through the surf and out to ships with letters, for the delivery of which he gets a few pence. In order to catch their ships a few belated travelers have been known to trust themselves on catamarans. They are united in the statement that the ride on the logs was the most nerve trying experience they had undergone in a land that holds a new thrill for the stranger at every turn. The sea and an occasional ducking have no terrors for these natives, not even the extremely young, and in reality the catamaran is not entirely to be scorned, for it is, after all, nonsinkable.

Water Pipes and Freezing.

Housekeepers as a rule do not understand why it is the hot water pipe is the first to freeze in very cold weather. They think that it ought to be the other way around—that hot water ought to withstand the low temperature longer than cold water will. That does seem reasonable, but a little investigation shows us that it is not. Hot water freezes more quickly than cold water for several reasons. In the first place, the boiling of water expels the air from it, and water will not freeze until it has parted with its air. In the second place, there is always a slight agitation on the surface of hot water, and this promotes congelation by assisting the crystals to change their position until they assume that most favorable to solidification. Then the particles in hot water divide into smaller globules by reason of the heat, and less resistance is therefore offered to the cold than in cold water.

Healthfulness of Honey.

"Honey, one of the most nutritious and delicate of foods, should be eaten more than it is," said a cooking expert. "Bought in the comb, it is bound to be unadulterated, and this pure honey will keep its friends free from sore throat and bronchial troubles. I have not had a sore throat since six years ago I took to eating honey. My doctor tells me he often recommends honey, with excellent results, for diseases of the throat. Honey is excellent to use instead of sugar for sweetening cakes. It gives the cakes a most delightful flavor. It is also excellent in place of butter on hot biscuit, on toast and on buckwheat cakes. I know a number of women who use honey as a cosmetic. They apply it to the skin, rub it in well, then wash it off with hot water. The result is a finer textured complexion, a glowing color, a young, fresh look."

Instinctive Piety of the Irish Gael.

As Dr. Douglas Hyde pointed out, "the Irish Gael is pious by nature. There is not an Irishman in a hundred in whom is the making of an unbeliever. God is for him assured, true, intelligible. When he meets a neighbor, instead of saying 'Bon jour' or 'Good morning' he says 'God salute you.'" Indeed, all the ordinary invocations and salutations of the Irish language are governed by this religious feeling. "When he takes snuff from you he will say, 'The blessing of God be with the souls of your dead.' If a sudden wonderment surprises him he will cry, 'A thousand laudations to God,' and if he be shown a young child or anything else for the first time he will say, 'Prosperity from God on it.'"—London Spectator.

DUDES OF OTHER TIMES.

Dress of a Dandy of the Early Nineteenth Century.

A cure for the confirmed railer against modern dress might be a course of inspection through a file of old fashion magazines or the perusal of such accounts as are given by the author of "Sketches of Lynn." The description is that of a suit worn in the first part of the nineteenth century.

The boots were an important article of dress. The toes were made as broad as the ball of the foot, with the corners well rounded, giving the shoe the resemblance to the snout of a shovel nosed shark. They were very snug and required strong straps. In order to get into a fashionable pair the heel of the stocking was well soaped and some pulverized soap sprinkled into the boot. The length of time it took to get one on depended on the strength of the owner and the strap.

The stylish overcoat displayed five capes, one above the other. The trousers were expected to fit as tight as the skin. Just how they were put on is a mystery. The coat was especially snug under the sleeves, and the velvet collar scraped up the back of the head. The camlet overcoats after a little wear, became as stiff as birch bark.

The thing worn about the neck was called a stock. This name was appropriate in its suggestion of an instrument of punishment. The stock was from three to six inches high, and was made stiff. A man was forced to look straight ahead. Only by careful management could he see a little on either side. About halfway between his eyes and ears two little points of collar stuck up like toothpicks.

Ruffled bosoms and wristbands finished the costume, with the addition of a tall silk hat. When inclosed in this manner, with a dash of attar of roses on his handkerchief, the man of the period was considered irresistible.

TOO HUMBLE A HUSBAND.

Position of Prince Albert, Royal Consort of Queen Victoria.

A woman looked up with a laugh from a heavy volume she was reading.

"Now I know," she said, "why Queen Victoria was so fond of the prince consort. This husband did not merely regard his wife as his equal; he regarded her as immeasurably his superior, saying that it was his duty to sink his own individual existence in her. Listen to this letter that Prince Albert wrote to the Duke of Wellington. Here is a champion of woman's rights indeed. Don't you think, though, it is going too far for a man to humble himself so low as this?"

She then read from her book in a sarcastic voice:

My Dear Duke—In the question whether it is advisable that I should take the command of the army I have come to the conclusion that my decision ought entirely to be guided by the consideration whether it would interfere with or assist my position of consort to the sovereign. This position is a most peculiar and delicate one. While a female sovereign has a great many disadvantages in comparison with a king, yet if she is married and her husband understands and does his duty her position, on the other hand, has many compensatory advantages and in the long run will be found to be stronger even than that of the male sovereign. But this requires that the husband should entirely sink his own individual existence in that of his wife and that he should aim at no power by himself or for himself, being content to be the husband of the queen, the private secretary of the sovereign and the tutor of the royal children.

Reading on a Train.

If you travel back and forth into town every day you no doubt read your paper or a magazine on the train. While this is not, indeed, the best practice for the eyes, it seems a pity to waste so much time which might be turned to good account. Much of the annoyance which comes from train reading is due to the jolting of the cars, which continually knocks the printed line out of focus with the eye. This can be in some degree obviated by laying a card or some other object below the line to be read and moving it steadily downward while reading. This acts as a guide to the eye and helps to keep the sight fixed. Those who have tried it say that it wonderfully assists to decrease the difficulty of reading while in motion.

Trade Emblems on Tombstones.

In Scotland it was for a long time usual to place on a man's tombstone the symbols of his trade. Especially was this the case at Dunblane, where, in the burial ground of the abbey, it has been found that of those tombstones which are from 100 to 200 years old about one-fourth are thus marked, the symbols being in low relief. A sugar cane may be seen as showing the grave of a grocer; an ax and saw, with hammer and nails, occur on the grave of a carpenter; an awl and a hammer on that of a shoemaker. There are many other graves similarly marked.—London Answers.

Cutting Eyelashes.

An eyelash is pointed. A cut lash is blunt. A lash once cut never again becomes pointed. Every lash lives a variable time and then falls out to be replaced by a fresh one. When a cut lash so falls the newcomer is pointed. So any mischief resulting from cutting the lashes will be remedied by time. Opinions differ as to whether lash cutting promotes growth. That it renders the lashes unsightly is very certain.

A Lengthy Drop.

When Thackeray Struck.

A letter written by Thackeray to the proprietor of Fraser's Magazine is quoted under the head of "When Thackeray Went on Strike." As a matter of fact, Trackeray, so far from acting on the principle of unionism, acted on precisely the opposite principle and asserted his right to individual preference. "Well," he says, "I dare say you will be very indignant and swear I am the most mercenary of individuals. Not so. But I am a better workman than most of your crew and desire a better price." He ends amiably, "You must not, I repeat, be angry or, because we differ as tradesmen, break off our connection as friends."—London News.

A Barbarous Policy.

After the Dutch had taken the Moluccas from the Portuguese they introduced the cultivation of the clove into their own possessions, cut down all the clove trees of the Moluccas and pronounced death on any one who would plant a single clove bush or gather or sell a pound of the product. Expeditions were sent from their other eastern possessions every year to cut down any bushes that might have accidentally started in the Molucca islands. This barbarous policy made the islands a desert, for, deprived of their forests, the volcanic soil was washed away, and the population starved or was deported.

His Fair Share.

The Chinese always have understood the great art of making the punishment fit the crime. Man or joss, if he offends, gets exactly his deserts. Viceroy Shum, who was anxious to see the end of the heavy rainfalls, was very angry with the guardian joss of Canton, who remained deaf to all prayers to bring about a little sunshine. A Weiyuen was dispatched to the temple with orders to uncover the roof over the joss' head and let him have his fair share of the rain.

Logical.

She—I think we should be able to live nicely on $3,000 a year. He—But my salary is only $2,000. She—I know it, dear, but my clothes come to $1,000 a year, and I have enough now to last for the first twelve months.

Woman's Love.

"Which of the two do you think you will love the longest, Peter or Paul?"

"The one who will forget me the quickest."—Paris Figaro.

ELECTRICAL FIXTURES.

Persuade your wives to stay away from the second floor of the Southern Electric Company's building if you do not wish them to spend money on fixtures.

LADIES.

Come and stay as long as you like. We have devoted our entire second floor to the exhibition of fixtures. Whether you contemplate purchasing now or not, we invite you to call and examine the finest and most complete line of gas, electric, and combination fixtures in the state.

In this lot are some beautiful art glass portables that would make most acceptable

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS.

We will hold them as long as you like but we certainly cannot hold them unless you choose now.

We think it is all very interesting but the part that interests you most is the price. The low prices are all out of proportion to the style of the fixtures. It will be very little trouble for us to prove this statement to you if you will give us the opportunity.

We will wire your residence for electric lights as reasonably as we will sell you fixtures.

TOMORROW WILL BE YESTERDAY—DO IT NOW.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—A bad young negro from Asheville on Monday was committed to the penitentiary at Raleigh, the convict being Clifton Fowler, who gets 10 years for manslaughter. Fowler killed a white man in Asheville's red-light district. The white man and a friend had come from Madison county and these got into a quarrel with the negro who was on the sidewalk with a negro girl. In the trouble which arose the negro threw a rock at the white man, who died from the result of the injury.

—At Salisbury on Saturday the proceedings in the case of Conductor P. F. Hedrick, charged with the murder of Gray Whitaker, were the most sensational of the week. Conductor Hedrick shot Whitaker for alleged intimacy with Mrs. Hedrick On Saturday the defeise introduced testimony to show that there was a conspiracy between Mrs. Hedrick and Whitaker to take the life of her husband. Dare Leonard, a witness for the defense, testified that Whitaker several days prior to his death offered him $500 to kill Hedrick. It was shown that an effort was made to have Hedrick pushed off the train on which he was conductor, his life insurance also being in consideration. Witnesses for the defense testified that Whitaker had sworn to kill the conductor the week of his own death. Being questioned by counsel for the State Mrs. Hedrick refused to answer whether she had entered into a conspiracy with young Whitaker, with whom she had been found behind locked doors, to end the life of her husband. It was whispered in court that a bill for conspiracy will be asked for against Mrs. Hedrick. The defense is pressing its plea for temporary insanity, coupled with the contention of self defense.

—Raleigh News and Observer, Nov. 27: As a free gift without application, and brought to them because of the best of behavior while in the State's prison, two convicts will be given their freedom on Thanksgiving Day by Gov. Glenn. This has been the practice during his term and yesterday he stated that he would continue to do so while he is governor. The pardons are to be given to two long term convicts who seem to have no friends to intercede for them or present their pleas and whose conduct has been unexceptionally good while in prison. The list of names from which Gov. Glenn will select two is to be presented by Supt. Mann of the State's prison on Wednesday and the two on the list who lead in good behavior, if they come up to the sandard required, will receive as a Thanksgiving donation a pardon. Gov. Glenn says that his purpose in doing this once a year at Thanksgiving is that there may be given a stimulation to those in stripes who are friendless to so deport themselves while in the State's prison that they may have before them the hope of being freed as a gracious gift at a time when the hearts of all are softened, and men give thanks for all the blessing which have come to them.

—Mr. B. H. Griffin, proprietor of Hotel Kennon, at Goldsboro, lost several hundred dollars worth of feed stuff by fire Saturday. The fire occurred on the Harrell farm near Goldsboro, where the stuff had been stored.

—Washington, Nov. 26.—The government contemplates criminal proceedings against a citizen of North Carolina charged with conspiracy to violate the immigration laws which forbid the importation of contract labor. The case against this individual will not be brought to the attention of the grand jury in North Carolina, but will be instituted in New York City. While the department of justice declines to admit that such proceedings are to be undertaken, the information comes from a reliable source. The admisison was made at the department, however, that if there was a violation of the criminal laws in inducing immigrants to North lina, the offense was committed upon the arrival at the port of New York. No statement could be obtained with reference to the civil proceedings already undertaken against North Carolina mill men, charged with violation of the contract labor law. All information must come through District Attorney Holton.

THE COTTON MARKET.

By Wire to The Morning Star.

New York, Nov, 27.—The cotton market was very irregular during today's trading with the big advance in Nov. the sensational feature. The close was 45 points net higher on November and 11 to 14 points lower on the latter months. Sales for the day were estimated at 350,000 bales. The market opened steady at an advance of 6 to 12 points and right after the call became rather excited owing to covering by belated November shorts. It seemed that only a few lots were wanted but one broker bought 1,500 bales at 11.70 or about 90 points over the closing figures of the previous day and at a new high level for the season. Following this November sold once at 11.25 and closed at 11.25 bid, or at a net premium of a full cent over December. The rest of the list sympathized very slightly with the strength of November and after working up to 10.59 for January and 10.79 for March or about 10 points net higher, eased off under realizing of a pre-holiday character and the absence of important support in spite of bullish spot movements for the South. The close was within two or three points of the lowest on active months. The weather in the Southwest was a little unsettled but hardly a factor and attention was again chiefly directed to the spot situation.

Receipts at the ports 79,609 bales against 104,187 last week and 81,851 last year. For the week 400,000 bales against 413,099 last week, and 325,855 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 17,846 bales against 20,303 last year, and at Houston 34,148 bales against 21,604 last year.

Spot cotton closed firm; middling upland 11.40; middling gulf 11.65; sales 860 bales. Futures closed steady, Prices ranged as follows:

IT'S IN THE DRAFT.

The secret of the fuel-saving qualities of this Buck's hot blast heater lies in the draft construction. It is so made as to allow large quantities of heated air to pass over the upper surface of the burning coal, thus supplying oxygen to the rising gasses, which are then converted into heating power.

Simple, isn't it? And yet it's new principle in stove building—not to be found elsewhere.

This stove will reduce your coal bill nearly one-third.

Let us tell your of its many advantages.

NEW SPELLING BEFORE CONGRESS

House Committee on Legislative Executive and Judicial Appropriation Bill Meets.

CONGRESSMAN IN QUONDARY

Don't Know Whether to Report Bill in Old Style or Simplified Spelling—Congress May Have to Decide It.

(By Cable to The Morning Star.)

Washington, Nov., 27.—The House committee on the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill took advantage of the appearance before it today of Public Printer Stillings to discuss the question of simplified spelling in Congressional documents. The bill came before the committee in both the old and the new style of orthography, the estimates of the Treasury being in the new style and the reproductions of the current law in the old style. Attention was called to the fact that the Supreme Court of the United States had refused to recognize the executive order for a change of spelling, and the queustion was raised whether by legislative enactment that tribunal could be compelled to adopt the modern system.

The same question arose with reference to the executive departments, the question there being whether Congress could compel those departments to return to the orthodox spelling by legislative enactment. There were so many points at issue that there was no attempt made to reach a conclusion today.

The public printer agreed with some members of the committee that an effort to maintain different systems for the executive and legislative branches would involve considerable extra expense.

WOMAN MURDERED FIVE PEOPLE

Poisoned Husband, Two Children and Others to Get Insurance.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Philadelphia, Nov., 27.—The most remarkable case of wholesale poisoning of persons to secure insurance money that has ever been unearthed in this city, is charged tonight against Bridget Carey, who was arrested at a late hour by detectives Isaacs and Miller and Deputy Coroner Paul. The woman, who is 32 years old, is charged with having poisoned her husband, Patrick, her two children, Mary, aged 8, and Annie, aged 6, who died a week ago, and Patrick and Credia Cook, tenants in the Carey house at 1242 Hamilton street.

All the alleged victims died within eleven months and the police allege that Mrs. Carey benefitted by their deaths to the extent of $1,000, through the collection of insurance.

According to Captain of Detectives Donaghy, it was learned that the children were insured for $125 each and that Mrs. Carey collected this amount after the deaths. On further investigation it was found that Patrick and Credia Cook, brother and sister, who lived with Mrs. Carey, had died within a few months under suspicious circumstances. Miss Cook has been the lessee of the house and Mrs. Carey was a tenant. The police officials say that Miss Cook was insured for $200 in favor of Patrick Cook, her brother, and that on August 13 she died. Patrick had been insured for $100 in favor of his sister.

He collected the insurance on her policy after her death and Mrs. Carey took up the lease of the house. Thereupon Patrick Cook made his insurance in favor of Mrs. Carey and shortly thereafter was stricken ill and died.

When Miss Cook died a physician who had attended her was visited by Mrs. Carey, the police say, and asked to sign a death certificate for insurance, attesting that she died of heart disease, as he had previously attended her for heart trouble and knew she was liable to die at any moment he signed the certificate. Miss Cook died on August 13, and on September 17 her brother died suddenly. The police officials say that Mrs. Carey secured the insurance. After the death of the children the police learned that the woman's husband died suddenly about ten months ago and they were urged to make a rigid investigation. The bodies of Patrick Cook and his sister have been exhumed and that of the woman's husband will also be disinterred.

SENATOR TILLMAN SCORNED THREATS

MAYOR DUNNE SNUBBED HIM

Refused to Preside at Tillman Meeting—South Carolina Senator Called Him Creature of Political Hour—Negroes Attended.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Chicago, Nov. 27.—The efforts of the colored citizens of Chicago to prevent United States Senator Benjamin R. Tillman from delivering an address here to-night in Orchestra Hall was unsuccessful. When the South Carolina Senator arrived in Chicago early in the afternoon, he was told of threatened injunction proceedings to prevent him from appearing on the platform of a money consideration that had been offered if he would cancel his engagement but Mr. Tillman expressed scorn for both. Until he leaves for Fond du Lac, Wis., to-morrow, Senator Tillman will be guarded by police and private detectives. This is in accordance with an order issued by Mayor Edward F. Dunne, who was scheduled to preside at to-night's meeting, but refused to have anything to do with the affai after a committee of colored citizens had visited him.

Senator Tillman gave his address protected by 40 detectives. In anticipation of trouble a number of policemen were kept at nearby stations in reserve but they were not called for. Six negro policemn mingled with the crowd which blocked the street in front of the hall.

In the audience were many negroes, but they listened to Senator Tillman's remarks good-naturedly and although he was interrupted many times, the speech passed off without trouble.

In leading up to his address, "Shall the United States Annex Cuba?" Mr. Tillman took occasion to criticize Mayor Dunne's action in refusing to preside at the meeting. 'I have been told that I have been snubbed by the mayor of this city," said the Senator I did not ask Mayor Dunne to be here to-night. If anyone has been snubbed, it is the gracious ladies who planned this meeting to secure money for the Chicago Union Hospital and who requested Mayor Dunne, the creature of a political hour, to come forward and add his mite.

"I have been advertised to discuss the annexation of Cuba," continued Mr Tillman "but in view of the fact that I could not discuss that subpect without discussing the race question, I am going to go at the matter hammer and tongs. Therefore, I shall discuss the American standpoint and not from a race problem pure and simple, from an American standpoint and not from a Cuban standpoint. Owing to my experience with the question and the diligent study I have made of it I believe I am better qualified to discuss the question than any other man in America."

While discussing the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution, which he declared gave the negro every right that a white man had, he was interrupted several times by one of his listeners who kept asking, "how about Kentucky?"

Finally Tillman seemed to lose his temper and exclaimed: "Oh, shut your mouth. You don't know the A B C of this thing. I forgot more 40 years ago than you ever knew.'

You make up your minds that equality before the law which the Fifteenth Amendment guarantees is right and should be enforced it would rsult in two States at least being dominated absolutely by negroes while four other States would be nearly so being governed by the negro that there would practically be an equal division of offices."

A voice: "How about the law?'

Senator Tillman: 'To hell with the law."

After telling in detail how the negro is prevented from casting his ballot in the South, Senator Tillman said:

"There is a great deal more to this question than the little racket here in Chicago."

A voice "How about the negro judge?'

Senator Tillman: "Well, I will tell you about your negro judge and about your political machines putting him on your ticket and bamboozling those poor baboons into electing him and then afterwards you fellows who voted the tickets without knowing what was on it found a way to cheat him out of it.

"No matter what the people in the North may say or do, the white race in the South will never be dominated by the negro and I want to tell you now that if some State should ever make an attempt to "save South Carolina" we will show 'em in their fanaticism that we will make it red before we make it black.'

"God Almighty made the Caucasian of better clay than the Mongolian or the African or any other race. The Etheopian is a barrier. He has done absolutely nothing for history, nor has he ever achieved anything of great importance. There are no great men among the race. Yet this people has been picked out by the fanatics of the North and lifted up to the equality of citizenship and to the rights of suffrage. No doubt many of you have listened to oratory of the greatest colored man of his country—Booker Washington. He had a white father, however, and his brains and his character he has inherited from that father."

Senator Tillman then told his audience of the attacks on white women by negroes in the South and declared that the people of the North were in a great measure responsible for this state of affairs.

During Mr. Tillman's speech a colored man and a Russian were arrested for creating a disturbance in the gallery.

SUGAR TRUST FINED $18,000

Was Convicted of Accepting Rebate of $26,000 From New York Central.

CASE WILL BE APPEALED

Judge Holt Declared it as His Opinion That it Was Even Crime to Ask a Railroad for Rebate. The Decision.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, Nov. 27.—A fine of $18,000 was imposed upon the American Sugar Refining Company by Judge Holt in the United States Court to-day for accepting rebates from the New York Central Railroad Company.

The company was allowed 60 days to prepare to appeal the case. The rebate amounted to $26,000.

Prior to imposition of the sentence T. K. McIlvaine, the defendant's counsel made a lengthy argument in support of his motion for an arrest of judgment. He contended that the contract made with the New York Central by Lowell M. Parker, through which the rebates were granted, could not held to be binding crimnally upon the defendant.

Judge Holt in the coures of discussion observed that in his opinion Mr. Palmer, could under the Inter-State Commerce act, as supervised by the Elkins act, have been indicted, tried and convicted for soliciting rebates. Under the former enactment he would, upon conviction have been imprisoned, said Judge Holt, while under the Elkins law a fine only could be imposed. Mr. McIlvaine insisted that it was no crime for the shipper to solicit the rebates at the time Mr. Palmer made the contract. Judge Holt reiterated that he was satisfied that it was a crime to solicit even at the time and that the crime was not completed until the rebates were actually paid, thus bringing the present offense clearly within the Elkins law.

It is understood that United States Attorney Stimson will move for trial of the other pending rate indictment. Indictments are still pending against the Western Transit Company, the Northern Steamship Company and the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railway Company, in addition to indictments against the New York Central, the American Sugar Refining Company of New York and the American Sugar Refining Company of New Jersey. Indictments are also pending against C. Goodloe, Edgar and Edwin Earle, wholesale sugar dealers, of Detroit, and Vive President Nathan Guilford of the New York Central It is also said that the Federal grand jury will shortly resume the rebating inquiry and that the carrying of commodities other than sugar is to be included in the investigation.
